

I Shouldn't Fly Without Annette

Annette used to catch me when I fell
But when I stumbled tonight she wasn't there
I used to fly so high suddenly I'm afraid of heights
I hit bottom hard as I have yet
And I shouldn't fly without Annette

While she waited at home for me
I spread my wings so foolishly
Aiming for a new high in some old smoky dive
Finding it so easy to forget
I shouldn't fly without Annette

Without her understanding
To soften my landing
I hit bottom hard as I have yet
And I shouldn't fly without Annette

I should keep myself on the ground
And stay from those nights on the town
Then Annette wouldn't have to be Always there for me

Annette used to catch me when I fell
But when I stumbled tonight she wasn't there
I used to fly so high suddenly I'm afraid of heights
I hit bottom hard as I have yet
And I shouldn't fly without Annette

I shouldn't fly without Annette
